Introduction

Back, back through the enshrouded images of the past—past Birmingham and Memphis; past carpetbaggers; past
Emancipation; past Uncle Tom's Cabin; past slave ships.
Centuries ago in the vast savannahs of Africa, Black empires ruled and their men walked tall.
Today, the Black Renaissance reaches back through the miasmal mists to sunlight.

AN EXPERIENCE IN BLACKNESS . . .

THE TERM "EXPERIENCE" DESCRIBES A PERIOD OF MEMORABLE UNIQUENESS.

THE TERM "BLACKNESS" EXPRESSES AN ERA OF GREAT INTELLECTUAL AND OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT.

IN A MORE MATURE SENSE OF "THE OAKWOOD EXPERIENCE", FOUNDERS AND TRAILBLAZERS WERE EAGER TO BRING ABOUT A NEW SENSE OF INTENSITY, WHICH THEY OPENLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE CULT OF ANTIQUITY.

EXPERIENCE BLACKNESS

WITH US . . .

SC

AT OAKWOOD COLLEGE

IN 1969-70.

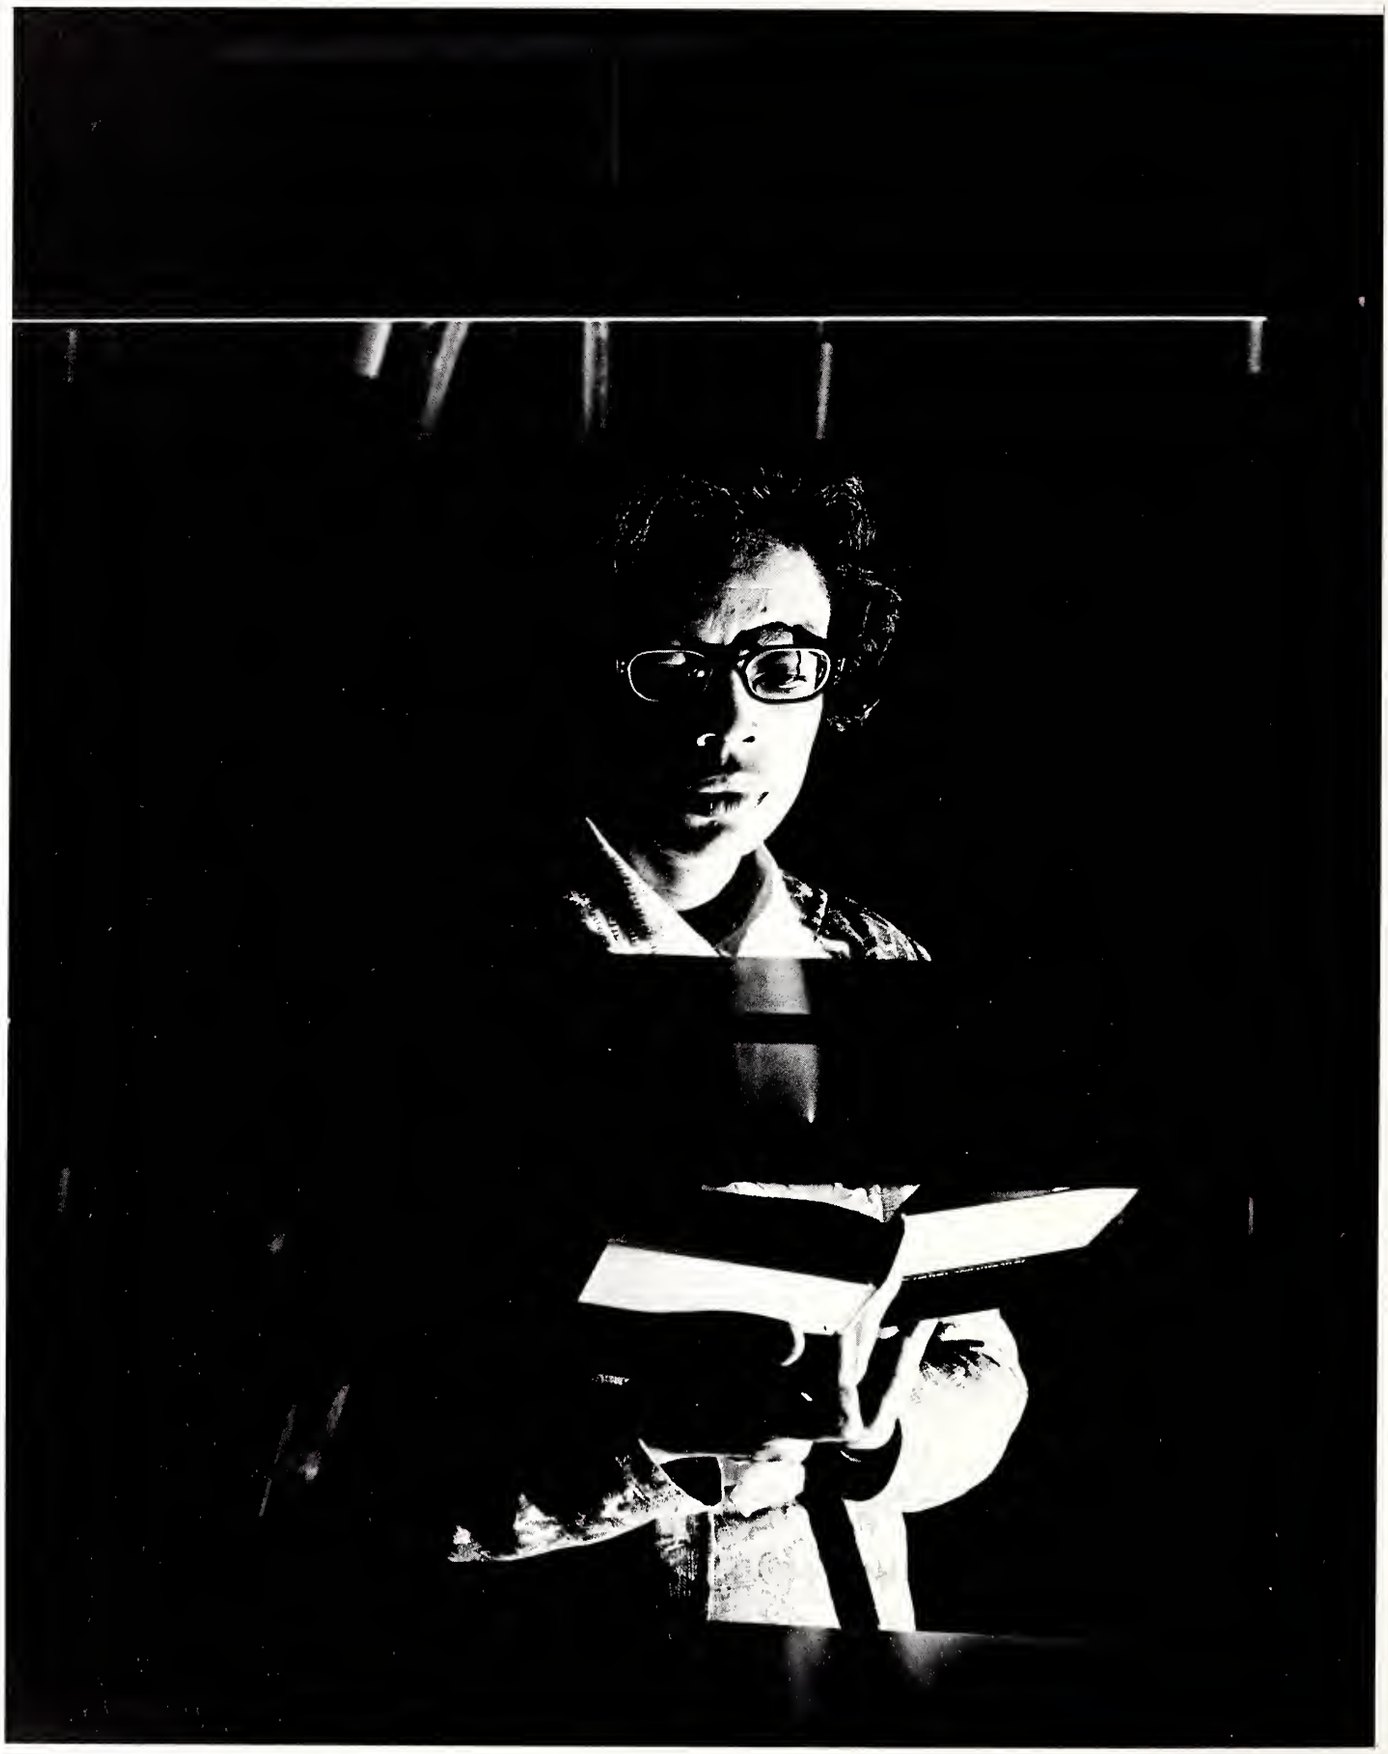

Not a day passes over the earth but men and women of no note do great deeds, speak great words, and suffer noble sorrows. Of these obscure heroes, philosophers, and martyrs the greater part will never be known till that hour when many that were great shall be small, and the small great.

(Charles Reade)

Dedication

DEDICATED to Jannith Lewis

Librarian

"Dedication" is an abused and over-used word, yet here on Oakwood's campus, an individual serves whose mature life can most aptly be depicted and described as "dedicated". Not for her, the mad heedless dog-eat-dog vicious climb to the top; not for her the self-centered Aquarian "Did it my way" not for her, the perpetual obsession with the status and self-aggrandizement.

Hers is not a dazzling meteor flashing across Oakwood's skies. Here is the steady and comforting lunar radiance—as predictable as the seasons. For longer than she cares to admit, she has lent a sense of stability and steady growth to O.C. To her college she has given the zest of her youthful vitality.

Take the abstract word "loyalty". If you desired to make it concrete for an O.C. alumnus, substituting her name for the abstraction would prove incisively concrete. Not for her the mugwumpian fence-straddling common to our bandwagon generation; no one ever has to wonder where she stands.

In an age of vampism, of amorality and a disturbing blurring of the sexes, she shines out as a "lady". No one would dare tell a risque joke in her presence.

Not a facade of a religious experience is hers; Sabbath finds her serving her church consistently and selflessly. Those students who are " in the know" realize that she cares deeply about them and their problems.

Her life revolves around a central magnetic pole: The W. H. Green Memorial Library; from 6,000 volumes it has grown to a total now approaching 50,000. Although conservative in a Christian sense in her choice of books, she is progressive in many ways. In tune with the times, the library is developing a strong concentration of books in the Afro-American genre. Ambitiously, she is beginning to change the whole library over to the Library of Congress classification.

All her dreams are being poured into the plans for the new library—next on Oakwood's Master Plan.

So don't knock "loyalty".

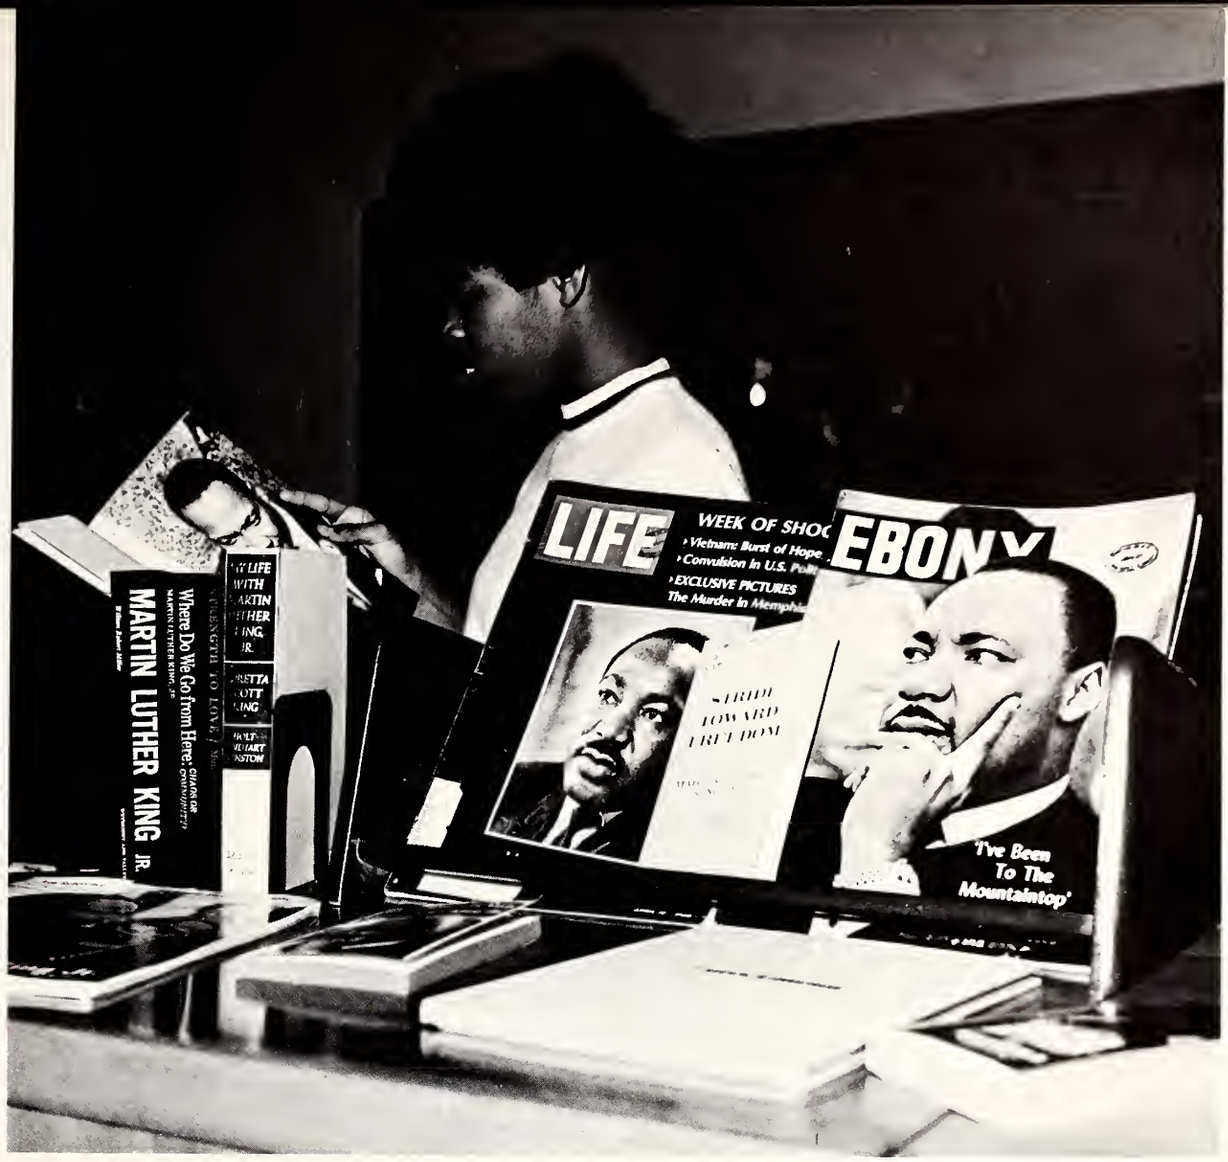

Don't knock "dedication".

For of these bricks are O.C.'s greatness built. And as long as educators like Miss Jannith Lewis answer O.C.'s call to service, its stability is assured.

Dr. F. W. Hale, Jr., Ph.D.

Oakwood College
HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA 35806
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

My Dear Fellow Students:

I have come this year to share with you of love, of life, and of learning. But I must admit that college campuses these days are a kind of orchestrated chaos, a terrible symphony of confrontation and confusion.

However, we say we have the Light, and so we must depend upon the mutual ripeness of our judgment, wisdom, and respect to bear witness of that Light.

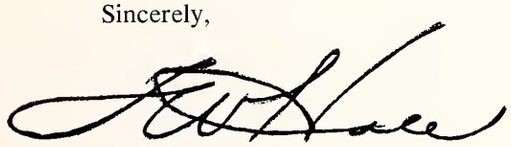

The story of civilization is still unfinished, but there is yet a ray of hope; for we are investing in you who will reshape the future for better or for worse with the work of your own fingers.

You are here until such a time as you are prepared to go out and short-circuit some of the bitterness and unkindness in the world. May you learn the importance of returning good for evil, returning soft answers for sharp criticism, restraining retaliation in the presence of rudeness, and being understanding when confronted by ignorance and stupidity.

When you will have disciplined yourself to this point, then you will be ready for your mission—to go out and change the spiritual climate of the world.

God bless you.

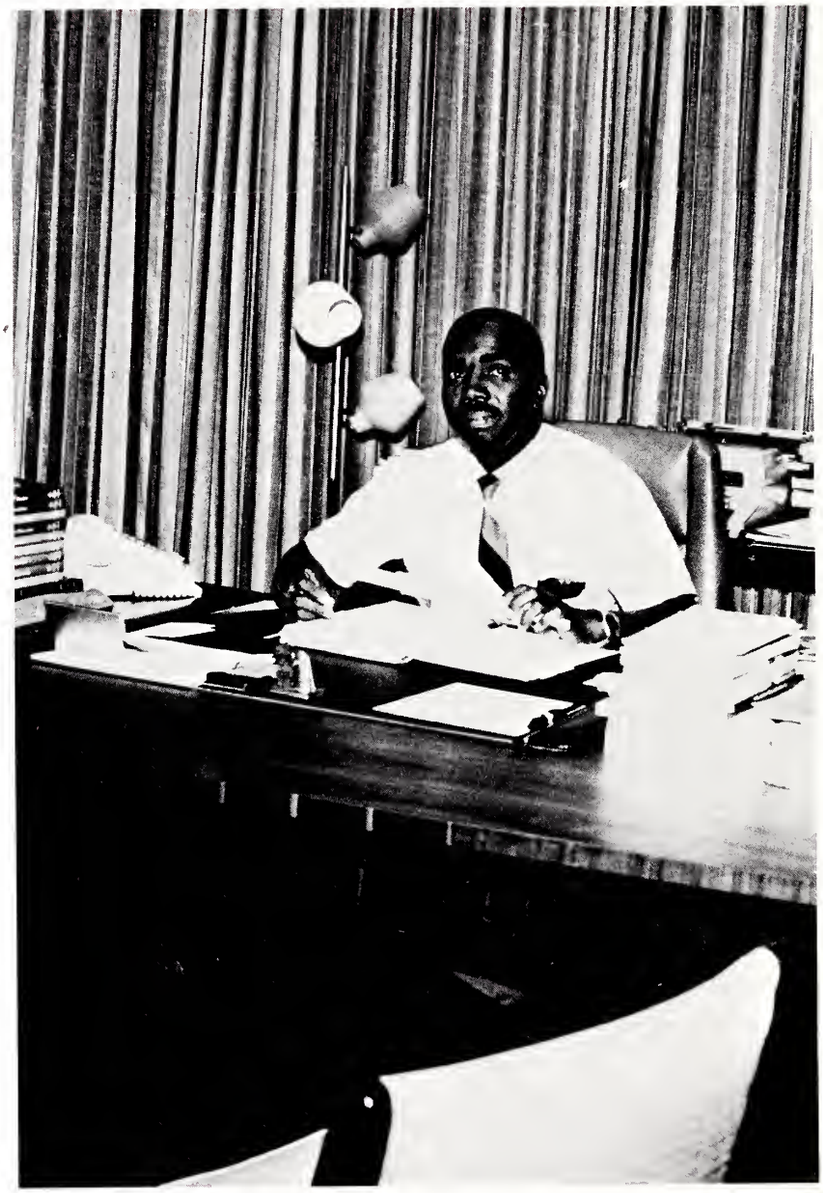

Sincerely,

Frank W. Hale, Jr.

HISTORIC BUILDING
This building was erected in 1909 under the inspiration of Mrs. E.G. White who called for the expansion of medical work among Negroes in the South. It was dedicated as a sanitarium and nurses' training center under the direction of Dr. M.M. Martinson. In 1938 it was remodeled as a home for Elder J.L. Moran, first Negro president of Oakwood College; between 1944 and 1965 it was the residence of Dr. Eva B. Dykes. In 1967 it was renovated to house the Behavioral Science Center. This is the oldest building on the Oakwood College campus.

Books are quiet; they do not suddenly stop functioning, nor are they subject to wavy lines and snowstorms. There is no pause for commercials, and for convenience in handling, they are small and compact. From a purely materialistic standpoint they are 3-dimensional-length, breadth, and thickness, but they live indefinitely in the fourth dimension of time.

IN MEMORIAM

Alyne Dumas Lee
1903-1970

Madam Alyne Dumas Lee was born on March 22, 1903, in Knoxville, Tennessee, the youngest of two children by Clora and Joseph Dumas. She was educated in the elementary and high schools of Detroit and Chicago. She attended the Institute of Musical Art and Wayne State University in Detroit. After her debut as a concert singer in Chicago in 1949, she continued her study with private instructors at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and in New York, Germany, and France. Franz Aller, director of "South Pacific", George Schick, assistant conductor of the Chicago Symphony, and the late Phillip Manuel, internationally known harpsichord artist, were among those with whom she studied to improve her vocal technique.

Recipient of numerous musical awards, Mrs. Lee skyrocketed to international fame after her New York debut in 1951. "A great and dedicated singer . . . her performance is of the most lovely, finished, and exciting to be heard anywhere . . . " said the music critic in a review in the New York Herald Tribune. Walter Whitworth of the Indianapolis News stated, "There is no doubt about it Alyne Dumas Lee, soprano produces, in our opinion, the most beautiful sounds that ever came from a human heart."

Madame Lee Concertized from 1951-1959 under the management of the National Concert Artist Corporation. Her travels carried her to forty-eight states of America, the Caribbean, and seven European countries. She was soloist under such conductors as Leonard Bernstein and Eugene Ormandy.

In 1959, her health dictated a curtailment of her activities, but she continued her zest for music by directing various musical groups and performing as soloist on a limited basis. She accepted the offer to become Artist-in-Residence at Oakwood College in 1966. Since that time she contributed unsparingly to the music students under her tutelage. She was designated Special Consultant for the Gala Night sponsored by the Civic Opera Society of Huntsville on November 1, 1969, because six of the ten soloists starring in the performance were her voice students. Three of them were students of Oakwood College. While teaching at Oakwood College, she also served as Visiting Professor of Music at Alabama A & M University.

She was born into the Seventh-day Adventist Church where she remained a faithful member all of her life.

She is survived by her two daughters Angela and Susan; a brother, Herschel Andrew Alexander Dumas; seven nieces, six nephews, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Education in its deepest sense is the improvement of man so that he will be a thinking individual, not afraid of the validity of his conclusions even though they may deviate from what may be acceptable and safe at the moment.

In a world of changing fashions and self-awareness, the men of Oakwood have taken a special interest in their attire. They have created their own world of distinctive taste. On these pages it is well exhibited that "it's a man's world, but, it wouldn't be anything without a woman all the time".

The synthesizing of a harmonious, well developed record of a year's activities has proven to be a rewarding yet heart breaking experience. It involves the total co-operation of a dedicated, and industrious staff. The sacrifice of hours spent, sleep lost, tears shed in the completion of this book, the first "black" yearbook, I feel is now well worth its cost. I am not adequate to express the feelings of my soul in appreciation to those who aided me in this task. For, without the tenderness, concern, upliftment, and courage I received, the book before you now would be a mere figment of your imagination.

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.
